

Spring 2019 News and Previews from the Seventh Season

As a center for the arts in East Dallas, St. Matthew's Cathedral Arts revives an ancient tradition of cathedral churches in proclaiming the presence of God through the beauty of human creativity, bringing vitality to St. Matthew's Cathedral, our neighborhood and greater Dallas.

The 2018-19 Cathedral Arts Season ends on Friday, June 7 with a great evening of jazz featuring Damon K. Clark and friends. Here's a review of season highlights and a look at what's to come!

CONCERTS

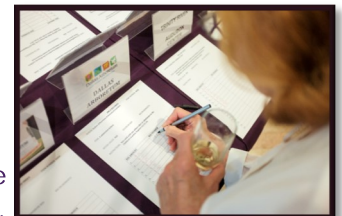

Virtuoso musicians bring their amazing talents to the intimate Great Hall each season, and this season has been a triumph! Cathedral Arts concerts are a rare and unique opportunity to witness and engage firsthand with major performing and teaching artists in a superb venue. Eight musical events have been spread across the season, each with its own special qualities. Our thanks to Lucy Creech, Natalie Arduino, Robert Wilson, David Grogan, Michie Akin, Brian Bentley, Alessandro Mazzamuto, Jay Gardner, Courtney Stancil, Christopher Leach, Mary Dibbern, Ryan Lescalleet, and the 2018-19 Distinguished Artist Émile Naoumoff for contributing their gifts to this season's concerts and master class. Don't miss an evening of chamber music on Friday, May 10 with Jonathan Tsay and members of the Cézanne Quartet, and help us end the 2018-19 season on June 7, when Cathedral Arts brings the famed Damon K. Clark Trio for a great evening of jazz, wine and hors-d'oeuvres in the Justus Sundermann Gallery.

ANNUAL GALA AND SILENT AUCTION

The annual Cathedral Arts Benefit Gala on October 12 was once again a tremendous success! A fabulous dinner, a huge silent auction, entertainment from some of the best singers in Dallas, and an enthusiastic audience of Cathedral Arts patrons joined to raise critical funds for the seventh season of free public arts and educational events at St. Matthew's Cathedral. Mark your calendar now for next season's gala, Bach to Broadway, with the Cathedral Arts Choral Artists and special guest Damon Clark on Friday, October 11!

JUSTUS SUNDERMANN GALLERY EXHIBITS

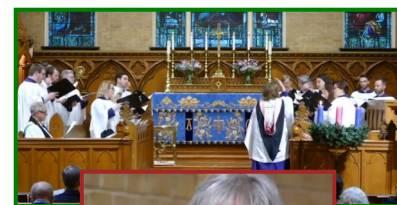

Important Dallas-area visual artists continue to bring spectacular and moving exhibits to Cathedral Arts. Sundermann Gallery has hosted three major exhibitions so far this season, beginning in September with Juliana Crownover's intimate look at everyday life, Walking to School, followed by a dazzling collection for the Advent Season from Annie Ehrenreich entitled Sacred Space—Visual Voice. Richard Boul's wonderful photographic series, An Afghan Odyssey—1967 was installed in January and received the most visitors in the gallery's history. On Friday, April 12, an opening reception will be held for sixteen artists participating in the first Sundermann Gallery Invitational Multi-Media Exhibit, on view through mid-June!

MUSIC IN THE CATHEDRAL

The Cathedral Arts Choral Artists are fine professional vocalists at St. Matthew's under the direction of Michie Akin and Monica Awbrey, who join cathedral organist Keith Franks for a season of Evensong services on the third Sunday of each month, with the exception of November and December. The glorious music, the ancient words and the beautiful surroundings invite everyone into quiet contemplation, away from the endless distractions of modern life. On Sunday, May 19, the season's final Evensong begins with a special organ recital by Dr. Damin Spritzer, Cathedral Arts Artist-in-Residence. The entire community is always welcome!

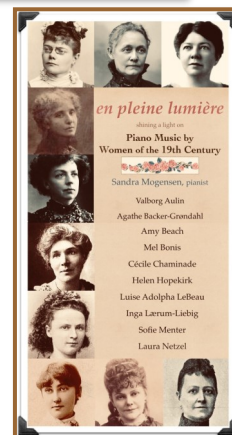

LOOKING AHEAD

The 2019-2020 Distinguished Artist has just been selected. Sandra Mogensen, a prominent Danish pianist, recording artist and teacher, will explore gorgeous and seldom-heard music by 19th-century women composers. She'll be joined by Alessandra Comini, University Distinguished Professor of Art History Emerita at SMU, who will present works of women visual artists of the same period.

Volunteers are always needed and welcomed for the many tasks that support a successful season. Contact Ron Hackemack at 214.957.4177 and contribute your skills to Cathedral Arts!
